The Book Of Womanese Vol. IV

Donovan Sharpe

Chapter I
Red Flags vs.
Green Flags

Something most Men, Red Pill aware or otherwise, fail to see in today's sexual marketplace, is that a Man with red flags are highly attractive to women of all ages, races, and walks of life. Regardless of what they say out loud, a Man's red flags are huge turn ons for women despite the fact that everything around them tells them they shouldn't be.

Conversely, a woman's red flags almost immediately disqualfies her for a long term relationship with a Man of value.

This doesn't mean that high value Men won't fuck these women from time to time because trust me when I tell you, they most ceretainly do. But they never commit to these women.

On the other hand, women quite literally throw themselves at Men who abuse drugs and alcohol, have mulitple kids with multiple women, are physically abusive, are covered in tattoos, who have no direction in life and live with their mothers (or other relatives).

This chapter will highlight the things women say they dO NOT want in a Man when in reality, they can't stay away from them.

Understanding this grim reality will keep you from committing to a woman who will inevitably cheat on you with the kind of Men she claims to hate.

What she SAYS:

What she SAYS: IX of X

If he can't respond to my texts, he can't be my BF!

What she MEANS:

Actually that's a turn on because I know he's busy doing other shit

Volume IV, Chapter I: Red vs. Green Flags

What she SAYS: X of X

If he thinks he can tell me what to do, fuck him!

What she MEANS:

Okay so it makes me mad, but it's kinda hot because I know he's not afraid of me

Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

An ironclad rule of today's daily market is that a woman's red flags, are men's green flags. In other words, if something disqualifies HER for a long-term relationship with HIM, that same thing qualifies HIM for every kind of relationship with HER... Short term, long-term, and everything in between. A woman with tattoos, multiple kids by multiple men, a drinking problem, does drugs, has daddy issues, sleeps around, is a liar, who smokes, doesn't respond to texts, and is a bossy bitch is automatically disqualified for anything outside of a one night stand or a casual fuck buddy arrangement. Never allow a woman to convince you that your red flags make you unattractive. It is quite literally the opposite.

Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

What she SAYS: VI of VIII

I got all of 50 cent's songs in my phone
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

What she SAYS: VII of VIII
If his goals don't align with mine, I can't be with him
What she MEANS:
His goals are my goals!
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

What she SAYS: VIII of VIII

If he doesn't want kids, I can't waste my time with him

What she MEANS:

I WILL waste my time trying to convince him to have kids

Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

If a woman likes you enough, she will change whatever she has to in order to be with you. Her religious beliefs, her political allegiance, her music preferences, and even her stance on children. Granted, if a woman wants kids, she will try to change your mind. But eventually, she will have to make a choice between staying with you and remaining childless, or pursuing another relationship with a man who wants children. Either way, she will do whatever it takes to keep you in her life.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
The first time he flakes, it's over!
What she MEANS:
He flaked?? He better reschedule! Why is he so much hotter now?
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Girls never get flaked on. But if you are the first guy to flip the script on her, you'll become much more attractive to her because she knows you have better shit to do... Possibly with other girls.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If he's controlling, we can't be in a relationship
What she MEANS:
I love a Man who takes control
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Girls don't like controlling men. They like men who are IN control. There is a huge difference and girls recognize this very quickly.

What she SAYS:
I can't do stubborn guys. Sorry.
What she MEANS:
It's annoying sometimes but he almost never makes the wrong decision
Volume IV, Chapter I: Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

This goes back to girls liking a man who is in control. The word "stubborn" is their Way of saying that you have unbreakable frame.

What she SAYS:
It's cute to be a dreamer, but I need a realist
What she MEANS:
I'm still hot so I'll get with a dreamer. When I'm 35, I'll look for that other stuff
Volume IV, Chapter I: Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Young hot girls love getting with guys who have big dreams no matter how outlandish they may seem. It gives them a rush of excitement thinking about the possibilities. They stop chasing these guys only when these guys stop chasing them.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If he flirts with other girls I AM SO FUCKING GONE
What she MEANS:
Okay it pisses me off but at least I know other girls still want him
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Funny...the more you flirt with other girls, the longer they stick around. But the key here is to not apologize for it. Yes, she is going to throw a fit. But maintaining frame, and not getting sucked into her emotional outbursts will keep her attracted to you.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I can't forgive cheating
What she MEANS:
But I have in the past and I probably will again if I love him enough
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

If a girl likes or even loves you enough, she'll forgive anything...including you fucking other girls. Not to say she LIKES this, or that it will be easy for her to get over. But if your value is high enough, she will stick around. But like the flirting, the key here is to never apologize. Instead, use language like "mistakes were made", or "it was not my intent to hurt you." Apologizing for anything, including the "cardinal sin" of stepping out on her is always a death sentence.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I can't stand guys who play games
What she MEANS:
I can't stand the games, but I can't get enough of these guys
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

"Playing games" is a woman's way of saying that you are showing her that she is not your only option.

What she SAYS:
If he acts like he's God's gift to women, I'm not unwrapping him
What she MEANS:
Overconfidence is hot
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

A man who was grossly overconfident will always fuck hotter girls than a man with no confidence at all. Never forget that.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I will never date a guy who's still friends with his ex
What she MEANS:
I wouldn't like it, but I'd tolerate it
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Remaining friends with ex flings keeps a woman's competition anxiety fully engaged. Competition anxiety keeps a woman on her best behavior.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If he's more than 10 years older than me, GROSS!
What she MEANS:
If he's in good shape and makes good money, age ain't nothin' but a number baby!
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Don't let women out here fool you into thinking they don't like older men. This is a lie designed to make older men think they hit the wall like they do.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If he doesn't worship me, he's not getting me
What she MEANS:
If he worships me, I'll cheat on him with a guy who doesn't
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

These are the words of a woman who wants good treatment without actually having to work for it. Worshipping a woman for simply being a woman always ends in disaster.

What she SAYS:
I can't stick around if he's verbally abusive
What she MEANS:
I don't like getting yelled at but at last I know he has the balls to check me
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Raising your voice to a woman is not verbal abuse. It is keeping her in line. Women respect men who are not afraid to raise their voice at them.

What she SAYS:
I cannot be with a Man who cannot be vulnerable
What she MEANS:
Seriously? Who wants a guy who acts weak on purpose?
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

No matter how many times they say this on the bachelor or other dating shows, women do not respect men who make themselves vulnerable on purpose.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I don't date assholes
What she MEANS:
I want to date assholes, but they just use me for sex
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Girls date assholes all the time. If you believe a woman who says she doesn't date assholes, then you deserve whatever she does to you.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If a guy can't apologize, that's a deal breaker
What she MEANS:
Guys who say I'm sorry are annoying. If you can just admit you fucked up, I'm good.
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

"I'm sorry" is a phrase you need to eliminate from your vocabulary right this instant. Even if you are sorry, never say that you are sorry. Ever.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
Self centered guys are SOOO overrated
What she MEANS:
I'd rather have a self centered guy than a guy with no confidence
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

This is similar to the "gods gift to women" declaration. Women love confidence no matter how delusional it may seem.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I can't be with a guy who tries to change me
What she MEANS:
If I like him enough, I'll change for him
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Like I said before, if a girl likes you enough, she will change for you. Especially when you give her instructions on how to change.

What she SAYS:
I'm sorry but leaving the toilet seat up is a deal breaker
What she MEANS:
It's not a big deal. It takes literally no time to put it back down
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

It's never about the toilet seat gentleman. If she tells you that leaving the toilet seat up as a dealbreaker, she's telling you she doesn't like you.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I'd never date a guy with kids
What she MEANS:
I would totally date a guy with kids
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

They say out loud, women date men with children all the time. A man with children is a man who is preselected. Always remember that red flags for US, are green flags for THEM.

What she SAYS:
If he has a criminal record, forget it
What she MEANS:
I've got his bail money
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Outside of convictions or accusations related to the sexual abuse of children, criminal records are turn on's for women. And the more violent your convictions, the wetter their vaginas get. I speak from personal experience.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
A temper is a deal breaker
What she MEANS:
A guy with a temper is HOT
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

A hot temper implies violent proclivities. And as we all know, women simply cannot get enough of violent men.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I'm not into religious guys
What she MEANS:
I would be if he were hot enough
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Girls are extremely turned off by guys who make a big deal about their faith. But if your value is high enough, she will fall right in line.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If he cheats on me, I'm fucking GONE
What she MEANS:
If he cheats, I'll probably stay
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

A woman who says this, is a woman who knows she has a man who could fuck other women if he wanted to. But deep down, she knows that she would probably stay with him if he did.

What she SAYS:
I'd never date a guy who's dating other women
What she MEANS:
The guy I'm dating, is dating other women
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

This is a flat out lie. Most of the time, girls don't date Men who aren't dating other girls, or at the very least MIGHT be.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If I can't trust him, I'll never be with him
What she MEANS:
Not being able to trust him makes him kinda hot
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

When a woman says “trust“, she’s talking about infidelity. Women are more loyal to men that they do not trust around women.

What she SAYS:
If he drinks too much, forget it
What she MEANS:
Most of my exes had a drinking problem
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

A drinking problem means he's got issues which also means he's probably complicated. Girls absolutely adore complicated men.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
OMG I'd never date a married guy!
What she MEANS:
Yeah, but Kevin in the sales department is married
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Young hot girls date married men at about the same rate they date guys with girlfriends. Never let a woman convince you that she would not respond to the ultimate sign of pre-selection.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I will never date a stubborn guy...
What she MEANS:
...again, but I probably will anyway
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Girls love Men who don't allow them to move them off their square. She'll characterize this as "stubborn" because that's the feminist in her. There's no such thing as a stubborn Man, but this IS such a thing as a stubborn woman.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I hate rude guys
What she MEANS:
But I fuck them all the time
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Now this one is partially true. Girls don't really like rude guys most of the time. But like the lovely and talented Caitlin just told you, they fuck 'em all the time.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
If you're close minded don't even talk to me...
What she MEANS:
...unless you're hot
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Close minded means that you are steadfast in your beliefs. Women do not respect men who do not hold strong convictions. So if a girl ever asks you if you were close minded, tell her hell yes.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:

Selfish guys make terrible boyfriends

What she MEANS:

Why are selfish guys so hot?

Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

I'll tell you why. Because selfish guys are showing they have other shit going on in their lives besides you.

Womanese Vol. 4

Professor Sharpe

What she SAYS:
I will never sacrifice my career for a guy
What she MEANS:
If I love him enough, I'd sacrifice EVERYTHING
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

If a woman would sacrifice her religion and her political beliefs to be with you, her career would be almost too easy for her to walk away from.

What she SAYS:
A guy being obsessed with his job is such a turn off
What she MEANS:
A guy obsessed with his job is kinda hot
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

Women love men who are passionate about what they do. Never allow them to convince you otherwise.

What she SAYS:
I can't date a guy who doesn't like kids
What she MEANS:
I'd date him if I liked him enough
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

This one is kind of a preamble to the whole "I can't date a man who doesn't want children" declaration. A man who doesn't like kids, is likely a man who doesn't WANT to kids. But again, if she likes you enough, she will date you. And she will likely never bring up children.

What she SAYS:
The first time he lies to me, I'm fucking GONE
What she MEANS:
...unless he fucks me good and drives a nice car
Volume IV, Chapter I:
Red vs. Green Flags

Why does she say this?

If a woman forgives you stepping out on her, then she will definitely forgive lying. The more value you have, the more a woman will tolerate. It's exactly the same on our end. The hotter a woman is, the more we tolerate.

Chapter II
Workplace Infidelity & Traveling

When women cheat on their husbands/boyfriends, there's a better than average chance that she's cheating with someone she works with. If your woman has a 9-5, it's inevitable that she's going to be attracted to some of the Men she works with.

The fact is, most affairs start in the workplace as a simple bi product of constant exposure to persons of the opposite sex.

This chapter will highlight the statements women make when a Man she works with is on her radar. It will also inform you of what to look for when your woman uses traveling to cheat and the methods she uses to cover it up.

NOTE: This will be a difficult chapter for a lot of Men.

What she MEANS:

I want you to think he's annoying so you don't suspect anything

Volume IV, Chapter II:
Workplace Infidelity & Traveling

Why does she say this?

So many men miss the shockingly obvious signs that a man a woman works with is on her radar. The very first time she mentions another guy at work, regardless of the context, that guy is 674% in heer cross hairs. The way this works, is that she will casually mention him in passing. Then, when she sees that your antennas aren't up, she will let her guard down and start talking about him more frequently without realizing it. She'll talk about how "annoying he is", she'll talk about the project they're working on together, she'll talk about their inside jokes, she'll even talk about how long his hair is and then meeting up with him for coffee. This is why you have to pay attention to what she is saying. As the saying goes, if you let a woman talk long enough she eventually tells on herself. Work relationships are no different.

Hey, my cousin is in town and she wants to have dinner and catch up

What she MEANS:

My cousin is not in town, I'm going to fuck my ex

Volume IV, Chapter II:
Workplace Infidelity & Traveling

Why does she say this?

When women travel, they cheat and that's all there is to it. If she's even half decent looking, she's got Men throwing dick at her from every direction. Combine that environment with her lack of impulse control and her physical distance from you, and you've got a recipe for a serial cheater who uses traveling to both facilitate and get away with it.
